

HE DARKENED HIS GRAY HAIR

Mr. J. A. McGrea, a well-known resident of California, who was called Daddy and Grandpa on account of his white hair, and who darkened it with a home-made mixture, recently made the following statement:

"Any one can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of borax, a small bit of the oil of These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—Advertisement.

'THEODORA' FILM IS CROWDING THE SHUBERT

Second Week of Big Italian Screen Spectacle Opens to Capacity House

The big Italian screen spectacle, "Theodora," started the second week of the local engagement with capacity audiences both afternoon and night. Present indications signify heavy patronage for the remaining time of this unusual screen picture in Boston.

It is the screening of Biondo's famous romance built around the historic personage of the Empress Theodora, who ruled the Roman Empire in the sixth century as the wife of the celebrated Justinian, and in a general way follows closely the play which was acted originally by Sarah Bernhardt.

Rita Jellott, well known for her unusual talent, has the title role.

LANCASTER THEATRE—Dietz-Lentel scored another popular hit yesterday in "A Trip to Paradise." Ethel Clayton, in "Waltz," divides the house.

FOX SPECTACLE SCORES HIT AT TEMPLE

"Queen of Sheba" Is a Vivid Production With Many Exciting Scenes

By FRIEDA DAVIS.

A vivid, spectacular production, this "Queen of Sheba," long heralded by the enthusiasm with which metropolitan audiences greeted it during its long run in New York, it opened its Boston engagement at Tremont Temple yesterday.

Again we are given a spectacle with a background that is, more or less, historical. It must be said that if children are learning their histories from the films, their school papers must furnish their teachers with plenty of ammunition. However, what changes? Gordon Edwards may or may not have made with history as current events were it, he has succeeded in presenting an interesting account of the love story of the Queen of Sheba and King Solomon.

There is a chart race that rivals those of the "Ben Hur" revivals, there are mob scenes that recall "Intolerance" and other Griffith spectacles, and there is a desert war that stands quite alone. This latter, one must admit, had moments of indecision as to the motive and object of the fighting, while the riders and characters paraded gloriously around still with the very magnitude of it made one enjoy their parades.

Betty Hovly comes into her own as the far-distant Queen of Sheba. Often has she been seen on the screen in smaller roles, and always has she been intensely satisfying. In this Fox production she is given ample opportunity to show what she can do. She is very beautiful, and shows an understanding of the character she portrays.

But, delightful as is the work of Miss Hovly, it is to Fritz Lerner that the real laurels of the production go. His portrayal of King Solomon is one of the most impressive, most mellow that we have seen on the screen. Long a Shakespearean actor, note on the legitimate stage, he shows the understanding of poetry, comedy and tragedy, his role accordingly. He has made it, therefore, a thing of great value.

'THE NIGHTCAP' PLEASES AT WILBUR

Mystery Play Has Much of Comedy and Is Acted by Good Company

"The Nightcap," which opened at the Wilbur Theatre last night, had a comedy in it, it would be a mystery play of the first water. Again, if it had no mystery about it, it would make a howling comedy, or even a farce. As it is, however, "The Nightcap" is a very presentable mystery-comedy, with now and then the comedy element as outshining the thriller that a new crime is but the stage for laughter.

The piece is fortunate in having for its makers two capable play-writers as Max Martin and Guy Bolton. Moreover, the entire effect is controlled by the excellent company. "The Nightcap" is what is known in theatrical parlance as a "good acting play." The situations build themselves up, and the action swings along at a brisk pace, carrying players and audience with it.

It would hardly be fair to future players to tell the story of the piece. It is essentially a mystery. But, as a production, it is a thing of beauty. After all but the house party, which includes the most of the play, the action swings along at a brisk pace, carrying players and audience with it.

As for the players, there is no star there in no leading player. The entire company is given equal importance, with the exception of the director, and Bob Andrews, the best, a scale more important than the rest. As the Daily Morning, at day

Hammond, is irresistibly amusing. The continued pessimist who manages to get as much fun out of his own misfortune as a confirmed optimist gets out of his good luck has never been so well illustrated as in the play last night.

Jessie Park, as Andrews, did precisely what was wanted. His part called for no great exertion, but he carried it satisfactorily. Flora Sheffield had the role of Anne Maynard. She has a freedom and individuality that are delightful. Elizabeth Bishop is seen as Mrs. Lester Knowles, and even to the necessary height on the only occasion on which it is demanded of her, that is, during the second act, Gordon's Olympia—Yesterday song writers appeared in a unit act entitled "A Trip to Holland." It appeared in person and his monologue was a most interesting and well-timed. The picture was the photograph of a "Canille," Tom Moore "from the Ground Up" and was a fine feature.

THE SCIENTIFICALLY BUILT WATCH

Why Your Tiny Wrist Watch Refuses to Keep Time?

A TINY wrist watch that will not keep time is an expensive piece of jewelry. It soon doubles its cost in repairs. It vexes you every time you look at it.

It probably was built abroad—for show, not for service. It was much cheaper than a Waltham. You didn't know that the smaller a watch, the more it costs to make. Greater skill, greater care, it was made to keep time.

How should you know? You're not a watch-maker. But no watch is better than its "works." And fine features do not always make fine birds—at least, not in watches.

You can buy exquisite Waltham Wrist Watches, the works of which are smaller than a dime. They are built to keep time, as long as you live. Of course, they cost more. We've told you why. But they save you the extra cost in repair bills wasted on watches made for show.

Ask your jeweler. He knows Waltham Watches.

Write for a valuable booklet that is a liberal "Watch" education. Sent free upon request. The Waltham Watch Company, Crescent Street, Waltham, Mass.

NEW SYMPHONY CONCERTS ARE POPULAR

A large and very appreciative audience greeted the Boston Symphony Orchestra last night at the first of the Winter season's series of Monday night concerts.

If there was any doubt that the Monday night concert would be as successful as the Friday afternoon and Saturday night concerts, it was removed by the Friday afternoon and Saturday night concerts. It was not disappointed, for Pierre Monteux, conductor, furnished an excellently balanced program.

The concert began with Cesar Franck's majestic, poetic and perfect in its beautiful symphony in D minor. The work of the orchestra in this striking symphony was a rare delight to music lovers.

Beethoven's "The Creatures of Prometheus" consisting of Violin Concerto and Ballet No. 2, Adagio, was the second number. Particularly pleasing was the Adagio, with its solo flute, solo clarinet, solo bassoon, solo violin and solo cello. Soloist was John Powell, pianist, who was soloist of the evening. His playing was exceptional, and he was recalled again and again by the audience, which was swept off its feet by this brilliant performance. He played Liszt's Fantasia on Hungarian Folk Tunes.

PAUK THEATRE—"The Sheik"
A sensational one of the most sensational exciting films shown of recent months, to the headlining attraction at the Pauk Theatre after this week. Rudolph Valentino plays the title role, while Agnes Ayres is seen as the English girl, who is abducted. The story of this attraction is how these two colorful characters and their rivalries in desert warfare form an intensely absorbing story.

Max Linder, in a comedy, "His Wife," is the other feature.

MODERN AND BEACON—Once
more we are given an opportunity to see the product of the studios across the water. This time it is the film, "Judgment," based on the story of the life of Mary Tudor, the first Queen of England. Not only was this made in England, but it is done with British actors, and English director and a European leading woman of note, Mrs. Richard Mansfield. It is the feature picture at the Modern and Beacon Theatre this week.

"Judgment" is the screen version of Victor Gollancz's novel, "The White Oak," which Wallace Reid, who played the leading role, was shown yesterday. "The White Oak" is a story of a young man who is a descendant of a famous family, and who is a descendant of a famous family, and who is a descendant of a famous family.

Newton High players have waited a long year for the opportunity to present their team. Many of this year's stars were members of that extra line football machine of 1923 that met defeat at Haverhill last year. The Orange and Black players were on edge because the rumors that were flying round concerning this game, but now that is arranged they are untrifled.

Not until last Saturday night were final arrangements made whereby the game would be played. Newton will be given the chance to redeem themselves for that defeat at Haverhill last season. Only seven points were scored on the Newton team this season. That record is hard to equal.

Captain Dickinson has built an extraordinary line group. His stout front line is a real asset. Newton was equally strong in his backfield last year, but breaks of the game were in favor of Haverhill after Newton had outplayed them in all departments.

Newton will enter Saturday's fray with as strong a line as that which were the Orange and Black last year. Haverhill is not so strong in the respect, which was proved by the show. It made when backing the light Menden first defense. Malden in that contest, outplayed the Orange and Black athletes and had the contest on its feet. The Newton players outnumbered those able to play.

In playing Malden, Newton had little trouble outplaying Coach McDonald's team, and the practice of the Garden City team last week put the Newton players in the trap-trap athletes in the shade.

More than the New England title.

GRIDIRON STARS WHO HAVE WON GLORY FOR NEWTON HIGH

TRIS SPEAKER HAS MADE AN ENVIABLE RECORD ON THE DIAMOND

By Sam Crane.

Tris Speaker, former Red Sox man, having signed a contract to manage the Cleveland Indians for the season of 1923, the fans of Cleveland and the baseball public the country over are pleased that the popular veteran will again be with them.

No player that ever took up the national game as a profession has made a more commendable record in every way than Tris Speaker.

There was no point of playing that he did not excel at. As an outfielder he was supreme and at the bat he was superb.

As a baserunner, too, he was eminent and his handwork was second to that of no other player. Tris has also shown masterly ability as a manager.

He is a true leader of men. A manager of a baseball team must use diplomacy as well as brains in his handling of players.

That Speaker is popular with his players has been a fact since he took charge of it.

He took his first championship, Cleveland over secured in the American League.

Cleveland, too, was among the first to join that organization, which he received its first financial backing in 1901.

Tris Speaker has been a success in the credit for putting Cleveland prominently on the baseball map.

It is any wonder that he is beloved there to the point of being called 'The City of the Speaker'.

ZBYSKO BEARS LEWIS TWO TO THREE

Strangler Gets First Fall, but There Go To the Polish Heavyweight

By Universal Service.

New York, Nov. 29.—Strangler Lewis made a desperate effort in Madison Square Garden to reach the heavyweight wrestling championship from Stanislaus Zbyszko, but failed, and was floored twice by his powerful opponent.

The "Strangler" won the first fall, flying headfirst, in 11 minutes and 30 seconds. It was a bitter contest.

A minute before Lewis tossed Zbyszko the champion was trying to win the "Strangler," but the latter broke loose and grabbed the victim in a flash.

Then came the sight of a body hurtling through the air and landing on his back. The referee tapped Lewis, denoting he had won a fall.

They then raised five minutes, but 21 minutes and 26 seconds later Zbyszko rolled Lewis over and was given a fall. Lewis was so wrought up over the decision, which was in accord with the wrestling rules, that he left the ring. He was persuaded to return, however.

A few minutes later they started off on the final fall. Zbyszko threw his entire weight at Lewis and scored about for a good hold.

Zbyszko downed and was lying on his back with a half Nelson. The "Strangler" however, managed to get up. The champion raised Lewis over his head and putting on a double-hold, pinned him to the mat in 14 minutes and 16 seconds.

AUSTRALASIAN TENNIS STARS TO RETURN

Fine Performance of Jim Anderson Has Greatly Encouraged His Countrymen

New York, Nov. 29.—Australia is keenly interested in next year's Davis Cup contest. This is evident from the fact that before its team reached home from this season's invasion, or the fifteen days phase were taking place from the start in 1923.

The fine performance of J. O. Anderson has greatly encouraged his countrymen, and they anticipate entering a team next season even stronger than this year's representatives.

Writing in the Sydney Referee, "Australia" offers the following comment: "J. O. Anderson's defeat of William Tilden opens up a fresh vista for the Australian team of 1923."

It brightens the prospects of the men of the Southern Cross actually and morally. Lawn tennis leaders will now concentrate on the great objective with renewed determination to relieve Uncle Sam of his Davis Cup.

"Writing last week of Tilden's magnificent performance during the last fifteen months, I said that some day G. L. Patterson or J. O. Anderson might defeat him. One little thought that actually the next day my own pen would give a prophecy. It is truly magnificent. We never anticipated, when our team of 1922 went away, that they would return with such a fine record, and not one of us dreamed that anyone of the team would have Tilden's scalp at his belt.

"Anderson evidently played his own game and at his top. As to the strength of his stroke, there has never been much doubt. THRILLING ACT BY SKATERS FOR ARENA

Alpine Swing Will Be Given by Edna Blue and Jim Bourke at Opening

One of the most sensational skating acts ever presented in public will be given Saturday night at the grand opening of the Arena when Edna Blue and Jim Bourke will perform on the vaudeville stage. Introducing their alpine swing, in which Miss Blue, held in the air in all sorts of positions, is twirled around by her partner.

Nothing of a like nature has ever been attempted in this country and Manager George V. Brown believes this will be the swiftest event of the otherwise splendid program he has arranged for the evening.

George Muller and his wife, formerly Miss Leah Croger, of the Philadelphia Ice Palace, will introduce a novel skating act. Willie Frick and his sister, Gretta, have been working out at the Philadelphia rink and will show Boston fans something new.

LIFE SAVING EXHIBITION BY THE U. S. MARINE CORPS AT GARDNER

The Boston Y. M. C. A. Chapter of the American Red Cross Life Saving Corps will give an exhibition in the Greenwood Memorial bathhouse in Gardner next Saturday. The corps will also exhibit at the open house at the Boston Y. M. C. A. on January 2, and is receiving novices for the big demonstration.

ROBSON HAS DESIGNS ON WILSON'S CROWN

Tommy Robson now wants to put a young trouncing to Johnny Wilson, the middleweight champion of the world. Robson, who is a native of Scotland, has been in the United States for some time and has been making a name for himself in the ring. He is a powerful fighter and has been victorious in many of his bouts. Wilson, on the other hand, is a more experienced fighter and has been the champion of the world for some time. The two are expected to meet in a bout sometime in the near future. Robson is determined to win the title and is working hard to prepare for the fight. Wilson is also working hard to maintain his title and is not taking any chances. The fight is expected to be a close one and will attract a large crowd of spectators.

HELLUND COACH OF THE B.U. TRACK TEAM

Athletic Council Announces Appointment of Well Known Runner Oscar Hellund, who in 1912 was considered one of the best middle distance runners in the world, has been named as coach of the B.U. track team. Hellund is a well known figure in the athletic world and has been successful in many of his races. He is now in the United States and is working to establish himself as a coach. The B.U. track team is one of the best in the country and Hellund is expected to lead them to many victories. The team is made up of some of the best runners in the country and Hellund is confident that they will be successful in the coming season. The team will be training under Hellund's guidance and will be competing in many of the major track events.

FINANCE AND BUSINESS

By B. C. FORBES

We're queer, contrary creatures, aren't we? Take prohibition and bootlegging.

Yesterday an insurance company called on me to my office to examine

me. Among the battery of questions was one as to whether I used intoxicating liquor. This I denied him in relation to his amiable experience since prohibition was enacted, that is by law.

He said it is astonishing to find the number of men who formerly drank, when taking out policies, and who didn't touch intoxicating liquor, but who now confess that they take drinks. He added that the number of business men who carry a little supply of booze in their desks or their safes is extraordinary. Not a few of them, in offering me a drink, declared vehemently that they don't propose to let me dictate to them as to whether they can have a drink or not when they feel like it.

That was yesterday morning.

While at lunch yesterday I fell back with the use following: "I don't drink," he declared, "and won't sell a single drink. Some of our customers asked us, when prohibition first came into force, and when we wouldn't want to another restaurant next door who they can get anything they want

every day."

He added that he personally could have made many thousands of dollars merely by letting his customers know where they could buy liquor in quantities. But he said he had steadily come and offered him generous commissions to look orders

from his restaurant, and he refused.

While he had declined, he remarked that in some other places this practice was common.

After the Army and Navy football game, I visited a restaurant in company with an old friend who one or two others. Here we saw a new wrinkle in supplying drinks with liquor. The waiter would come along and while other putting down napkins or placing plates on the table, he laid down an innocent looking extra napkin. Wrapped in it was a little bottle of whiskey.

Another dodge is to slip a tiny bottle into a diner's pocket so that the customer, as in the case, can take it on his own pouring.

On one very large industrial establishment employing a great many alien laborers I saw the roughest type of men to employ quite a force of detectives disguised as workmen to try to prevent or stop fights and killings. Many of the workmen tools which could be employed very effectively to kill an enemy. Since prohibition nearly all these weapons have been dropped. It was discovered that most of the workmen had been created in factories at night, and the attacks on the place were prevented by returning. Now very few assaults occur.

Coal mine owners were puzzled

for a long time as to why it was that the largest number of accidents

occurred just after work was started. Finally they concluded that it was through investigation. They discovered that the men who were under the influence of the drinks which they had been

When Germany, by maintaining peace for more than forty years, had built up her manufactures and world-commerce until she was crowding English manufactures out of the world's markets and driving English commerce from the seas, all who knew

Let us do our own great task, fulfil our own mighty destiny, rely upon our own invincible strength, pursue our own magnanimous and unselfish policies, and with a helping hand for every friend and a ready sword for every foe, go steadily forward in the path pioneered by Washington until, far in the future, our good and strong America stretch across the world the sceptre of her influence and the beneficence of her liberties, her democracy and her benevolent helpfulness.

TO RUN GOOD

good old captain, I still have a job and so here I am in Danzig;
You cannot expect parlor treatment in the business world.
You won't get it if you do.

she's trying to make a new man out of the one she's got.

and talk business in a straight-from-thest expect parlor treatment in the busine get it if you do.

she isn't trying to get a new man she's trying to make a new man out of the one she's got.
